Reflection by Javier, CMF

Today's readings shift from stressing the need for persistence to looking at the inner disposition that best attunes us and allows our prayers to rise to God. The book of Sirach teaches us that the prayers of those with a humble heart reach the "heavens" and do not "rest till they reach their goal."

In the Gospel, Jesus teaches a parable that is rich with spiritual truth: the parable of the Pharisee and the tax collector at the temple. Jesus speaks this parable to those who "trusted in themselves that they were righteous and despised others" because he wants to help his listeners identify and change behavior in themselves that is harmful.

The parable clearly illustrates how easy we can fall in the same judgmental thinking of the Pharisee. We are content with our own progress in spiritual life and thus look down upon the people around us. This is a very easy trap to fall into, especially at times when our "faith" strongly encourages spiritual perfection. So the invitation for us today is to be humble and recognize our own weaknesses while opening ourselves to the Source of all mercy, just like the tax collector. As we go out, having received the Bread of Life, let us leave aside all odious comparisons and seek oneness with the incomparably Merciful One.

Practical advice for the following week:

1. Try to leave out "I" the next time you pray.
2. Pray with gratitude for the mercy you have received and let yourself be transformed by it.
3. Pray to let go of any tendencies to compare yourself to others.

CCM Student Contributions

Sunday Collections are a major part of Catholic Campus Ministry's funding. Without them, we can not provide many of the activities we have each week. We ask that if you can, give $5-$10 a week or make a one time donation of $50-$100 per semester. We accept cash, check, and there are slips in the pews for credit card payments. Any amount is appreciated and makes a difference. Thank you for your generosity.

Collections for October 16, 2016

11 am- $234
7:30 pm - $413
